EGG HARBOR, N. J., August 3—Authorities who arrested the man near here in connection with the kidnapping of Blakely Coughlin, Norristown, Pa., baby, today maintained great silence regarding the identity of the suspect. BORO COUNCIL HEARS OF MEMORIAL PLANS

Reports Made Indicate Paving Of Streets Is Progressing In Excellent Manner.

RAISING OF DAM DISCUSSED

The regular meeting of town council at the borough building last evening was attended by eight of the twelve councilmen and Burgess Chase. President Pletcher presiding.

Burgess Chase reported but one arrest during July and the collection of $5.00 in fines.

Street Commissioner Graham reported the activities of the street crews during the past two weeks and checked up on the damage done by the recent heavy storm.

Borough Engineer Hess made report of the Third street repaving and stated that the brick taken up on Third street were in excellent shape and were largely being used in the repaving.

Chief of Police Eadie made application for increase in salary of $35 per month but no action was taken by council on same.

The application of Borough Teamster McNeal for $20 per month increase was also unacted upon.

The resignation of C. E. Carlson as policeman, which occurred July 1st, was announced by Burgess Chase. Since that time Chief Eadie has been doing the police work alone and working fourteen hours at it.

Mr. McCloskey, chairman of the Sewer Committee reported progress on Fourth street relief sewer and stated that they were getting prices on material for same. Also that when the Third street sewer was completed Fourth street would be greatly relieved.

The Sewer Committee also presented a petition signed by 288 citizens asking that the dam in the river at the N. Y. C. station be rebuilt and raised two feet higher. They also stated that they had endeavored to get an estimate on the cost of such dam but had not been able thus far to get it as dam builders were dam scarce in this neck o' woods. They recommended a concrete "apron" dam.

The Sewer Committee and Street Commissioner were directed to proceed at once to repair the present dam temporarily while plans for a new and proper structure might be worked out.

Chairman Rosser of the Highway Department reported that the square from Reed to Pine on Third street had been repaved and opened and that the work of improving this street was going on as rapidly as possible. He stated that the Pennsylvania Railroad company was paving between their tracks from Reed street and had their excavation completed almost to Walnut street, where the improvement ends.

Mayor Presents Plan Drawn By Capable Architects And Recommends Quick Action.

WOULD COST NEAR $100,000

Following the business meeting of council Burgess Chase took up the matter of the proposed Clearfield County Soldiers' Memorial building. The Burgess stated that Clearfield is one of the very few counties of Pennsylvania which has thus far failed to provide a suitable memorial for her soldier sons. Many movements have been started in the past to have some suitable memorial erected, but thus far it has all come to naught. The world war stirred the patriotic impulses of the people of this country to a high pitch and again almost every county but Clearfield fittingly remembered her war heroes.

Some time ago a public meeting was held and it was the sense of this meeting that a committee be appointed to work out this soldiers' memorial proposition. Thus far no committee has been named, but following that meeting Howard & Thompson, DuBois architects, were asked to design a memorial building such as Clearfield County should erect and Burgess Chase presented a handsome drawing of the proposed building at this meeting. In outlining the plan he had in mind for the memorial the Burgess thought it could be erected for about $100,000, and that this sum should be contributed as follows: Clearfield borough $25,000; Clearfield County $25,000 and the remaining $50,000 be raised by patriotic popular subscription. Under this plan, too, the memorial building would be erected in upper Witmer park; would contain county and municipal offices and an auditorium suitable for the holding of county gatherings of every public nature.

No action was taken on the subject, nor did the burgess desire action at this time. His remarks were here for the purpose of getting the project before the people of the county at this time.

The picture of the proposed memorial building will be placed in Flegal's window and every patriotic citizen who believes some monument is due our brave soldiers of all the wars should make it his business to look it over.

RIGHTS OF VOTERS FULLY EXPLAINED BY STATE OFFICER

Because of the prospect of equal suffrage and the general interest of women in the 1920 election George D. Thorn, chief of the election bureau of the state department has included in his annual booklet on the general election of 1920 much information relative to the duties of voters. It also contains information on the duties of candidates and of political committees, personal registration, party enrollment and the corrupt practices act.

Chief Thorn has used the plainest language in his chapter dealing with voters' qualifications and he points out that the constitution and the laws of Pennsylvania prescribe that the following essential requirements must be complied with by prospective voters before they become eligible to cast their ballots.

They must be twentyone years of age.

They shall have been citizens of the United States at least one month.

They shall have resided in the state one year (or having previously been qualified electors or native born citizens of the state moved therefrom and returned thereto 6 months) immediately preceding the election.

They shall have resided in the election district where they offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

If twenty two years of age and upwards they shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

MOTHERS INVITED TO NUTRITION CLASS THURSDAY

Come to the Junior High School at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon and see what progress the children in the Nutrition class have made this summer. This will be the last meeting of the class, and all who are interested in children's health are cordially invited to attend. We hope particularly to see the mothers of as many of the children in the class as possible.

Between 2 30 and 3 00 o'clock the children will be weighed and at 3 00 o'clock they will present a playlet entitled "The Queen of the Foods" under the direction of Miss Katherine Zerfoss, who will also tell the children a new story next Thursday.

There will be an exhibit of the children's individual weight charts, showing exactly how much each has gained.

Last Thursday the gold star for the highest gain was won by Robert Lewis Bierly in the first group and by Herbert McCloud in group two.

GIRL FORCES LOVER TO TAKE A RIVAL

POTTSVILLE, August 3—(United Press)—A love story—a heart interest story—involving devotion and sacrifice such as is rarely found in hot-man fiction stories has just been brought to light here. Involved were a young man and two young women from near here. An attorney, through whom the strange story became known has promised to keep buried the identity of the parties involved.

A short while ago the attorney was appealed to by a young woman to investigate the character of a young man she was engaged to marry. She had prepared an expensive trousseau and felt that with him she would be the happiest of happy young brides—until one day, she received an anonymous letter warning her that another had a closer claim to his affection than she.

Unable to persuade the young woman to ignore the letter and interview the young man personally the attorney agreed to make the investigation. Three weeks before the date of the wedding ceremony he sent for the young woman.

The prospective bride was told that "the other woman" had been found, that she had heard of the approaching wedding and that it was she who wrote the letter. The little girl dumfounded but brave, demanded that her attorney arranged a meeting of the young woman and the young man in his office. At the appointed time all three were there.

The two women went into a private office together and when they emerged the young man was told by the girl he asked to marry that he was to wed the other. With a trembling voice the young man agreed.

A few days later the expensive trousseau ... that it was into the home of the bride to be the gift of the young lady who had first planned to wear it. The wedding was held on the day appointed for the ceremony of the young man and the first bride to be.

WILD PITCHING LOSES GAME TO BROOKVILLE

Clearfield Had Game Sewed Up Until The Ninth, When Stitches Ripped Again.

TEAM DID NOBLE PLAYING

The C. C. A. A. baseball team acted as host to the Brookville team at the driving park grounds last evening, and with Chesterfieldian generosity again presented the visitors with the game in the ninth inning, the final audit showing these figures: Brookville, 8, Clearfield, 3.

Dougherty was Manager Lytle's pitching assignment and he was in possession of nothing much except an uncertain arm. He had an awful time locating the plate and walked eight men. When he did wobble one over the visitors commited hari kari on it and accordingly kept our nimble footed athletes on their toes to head them off, and at that "one, two tree time they fall down," as our 'frog' cousin would remark. Dougherty dug himself into crevices and sundry holes with a reckless ness and abandon that brought hills to the heart of the rooters. By playing the nippiest kind of base ball his teammates kept a firm tail hold on the bacon until the ninth session arrived. That one was a slaughter. We will recite it for you.

Mu... ... man up, was out short to first. Mahoney singled and Warren did likewise for his fourth hit of the game. Holben fanned. Wilson was given a walk. Smith hit safely and Snavely muffed Clark's fly which should have been the third out and Wilson and Smith counted. Lagey singled scoring Clark and ho... ... were tipped long enough to substitute Alexander for Dougherty ... ... scoring Farley and Mu... ended the inning by going out ... to first. There ... a ... or two in between but we have ... enough.

FRESHMAN CLASS AT STATE FILLED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. Aug. 3—The freshman class at the Pennsylvania State College is now filled. Seven hundred and fifty applicants have been admitted and it is not yet known how many will have to be turned away by lack of necessary teaching and classroom facilities. The task of admitting the number was of such proportions as to overshadow the records of all previous years. It is estimated that applications were received from nearly 200 high and preparatory school graduates resulting in the burning of much midnight oil on the part of college officials to properly and in a fairness strike up the personnel of the incoming class.

In placing the limit of new students for the coming year at 750 the trustees ... enrollment ... to follow ... relief for ... overcrowded ... and laboratories. With ... at Penn State next fall ... incoming class will bring the total student attendance ... 500 greater than last ... record ... there.

LET RAILROADS GIVE SERVICE NOW

As the matter of most concern to the public in the railroad wage dispute was the obtaining of more efficient service, the country will look expectantly to the roads to "make good", now that wages have been adjusted and rates have been increased to take care of the railroads' increased expenses. If the right disposition is shown toward meeting this demand, there need be no fear of the public attitude toward the higher rates. The public was prepared for the advances allowed the carriers by the interstate commerce commission, understanding, naturally, that the increase in wages granted railroad employes would be passed on to it through increased freight and passenger rates.

The country has reached the point where, if it can get improved service, it will not hesitate to pay any rates that can be shown to be reasonable. It was painfully impressed during government operation of the roads that the latter had not been making the money the people had been led to suppose—indeed, that the carriers were in a bad way through having been restricted too closely in their charges while the cost of the service and materials they required was soaring. It is common sense, if we are to avoid a collapse of the transportation system, that the carriers cannot be kept hobbled too much in their charges while everything they have to buy is mounting in price. Of course, this does not mean that the public will submit forever to the "vicious circle" in price-making, but that, until things are stabilized, the railroads will have to be allowed whatever rates are necessary to keep the service going. It will contribute to prosperity to put the roads in a condition to buy the rolling stock of which they stand in such dire need.

The first essential of prosperity is to get the arteries of trade into smooth and vigorous working condition. Nothing would contribute more to bringing down prices of necessities than efficient transportation service.

PRAISE WHERE PRAISE IS DUE

If one had the ability to write, the material for many volumes of praise to the natural and produced good points of Clearfield and her people is here in inexhaustible quantities but the recorder would find it exceedingly difficult to properly classify and arrange the material for such a work. Reams have been written of our natural resources, our wealth, our climate and our generosity, but in our former efforts at cataloging Clearfield we naturally overlooked many of the little things that contribute so much to our convenience. We do not propose to throw bouquets indiscriminately at everything and everybody Clearfieldian but we have heard so many people express praise about two Clearfield business enterprises recently that we feel they are deserving of editorial mention.

One is the Fullington Bus Company. They serve Clearfield better than trolley could possibly do so. While not being such a large feeder to the business of the town as a trolley system would be, so far as the average citizen is concerned, they are giving better service than a traction line could give. They are maintaining their schedules better than any railroad system in the country today. They are accommodating and keeping right up to the requirements of their patrons. When weather conditions or a break down interferes with their schedules they do not hesitate to shoot another car out to pick up the lost time. A continuation of the service being given by the Fullington boys will insure their success.

The other is the chain of Jordan eating rooms. Jordan had a surpassing faith in Clearfield when in the face of high costs he plunged into the eating house business on such a pretentious scale. And just at a time when so many of the old style eating houses were arguing that "accommodations" could not be furnished without the license privilege. Jordan gets the price but he gives in common. You can travel to any town under twenty-five thousand population in the state and you will not find anything to surpass the Jordan establishment. Here one can buy a dinner at any price from fifty cents to the limit of the appetite. You can get it at the lunch counter quickly or with your lady in the dining room to the accompaniment of the jazziest music.

The heads of both these enterprises had nothing to urge them on but "faith in Clearfield."

And "faith in Clearfield" has been vindicated time and again.

THE PLODDER

In those bright young days when, speaking collectively, we knew all there was worth knowing, many of us entertained the ambition to conquer the world in a brilliant manner and set the universe afire with our success. But how many of us attained that ambition?

It is the boy who was the plodder in the school room who is holding an executive position and now bosses some of the rest of us. He is the fellow who kept continually hammering at his lessons. He made haste slowly and remembered what he learned. It was not by a single strike that he expected success to reward his efforts. It was inch by inch, step by step, round by round, that he expected to scale the ladder of attainment, and he has not been disappointed.

It is the plodder who is dong the big things in the world today. Let us learn from his example.

JAPAN EXPECTED TO STAY IN SIBERIA

LONDON, (By Mail)—Foreign office officials and diplomatic officials here are filled with curiosity over Japan's next declaration of policy regarding Siberia, which is due shortly after the last Szecho-Slovak contingent sails from Vladivostok.

That Japan will fulfill her former pledges to evacuate Siberia upon the departure of the Czechs, Poles, Roumanians and other war prisoners, is regarded as highly improbable. In fact, foreign officials do not consider such an action debatable.

What interests them more is the substance of Japan's new alibi by which she will seek to justify the continuation of her occupation of Russian territory.

Earlier official statements emanating from the foreign office at Tokyo indicated positively that Japan's only purpose of maintaining forces in Siberia was to "protect" the Czechs. Later declarations referred to the necessity of protecting Japanese subjects and covering the Korean frontier against the intrigues of the Koreans domiciled in adjacent Russian territory. The latest declaration promises evacuation when a stable government has been established.

Recently according to foreign office reports, Japan sent 10,000 additional forces into Russia presumably as relief forces for the soldiers there whose enlistments had expired. However, none of the time-expired men have been withdrawn, which makes the status of the newly arrived contingents more of the nature of reinforcements.

The general opinion in official quarters here is that Japan has made herself the dominant factor in the Far East and expects to retain her hold and position in Siberia until action by the Russian government renders such position untenable.

Unless combined European and American pressure frees Japan to loosen her hold upon Russia's eastern territories, or the policy of the Japanese government change radically there is nothing to prevent her "peaceful occupation" from becoming permanent. The present Russian government will require years to become strong enough to wage successful war against so powerful an enemy.

Japanese diplomacy, however, has already got itself into an inconvenient position by admitting that the present Siberian government was entitled to recognition.

Ostensibly the Verkhne Udinsk government was purposely set up to comply with Japan's demand for a stable government. The Japanese, realizing the power of the new coalition, negotiated with them regarding an armistice, thereby tacitly admitting their right to recognition.

Japan however, is expected to charge that the Verkhne Udinsk regime is a tool of Moscow, unless by favorable concessions it proves its friendliness to Japan and hostility to the Bolsheviks.

NOBODY PLACED THE BLAME FOR SPRUCE STREET ACCIDENT

to the recent accident at Spruce street last Thursday in which the track of the Clearfield Storage Co., driven by Mr. Boyd Miller, with Mr. Edmund Kerr with him on the seat, was wrecked we will prove our assertion.

Had these two boys looked a little where they were going and paid attention to the warning given them there would have been no accident at all, as there was a man on the front end who gave them warning to stop. The fireman was ringing the bell and could not get their attention at all. As for knocking the truck on hundred and fifty feet, that is all a mistake, and we only want what is coming to us and no more. The truck was knocked thirty feet and ran sixty feet and then piled into a telephone pole and smashed the front end in, doing more damage to itself than the engine did. The last sixty feet it ran on its own power till it hit the pole.

Now don't blame it all on us as we are willing to go fifty-fifty but no more. Hereafter don't blame it all on the railroad man until you are sure what you are doing.

Signed: A Railroad Man.

Replying to the above letter from one of the brakemen on the train which hit the Clearfield Storage Co. truck at the Spruce street crossing last Thursday, we must say that it sounds very much like the guilty fleeing when no man was pursuing.

In our story of this accident we made no effort to fix the responsibility for same, aside from the fact that we mentioned that the engine was traveling backward which would make it impossible for the engineer to see any vehicle approaching the track from the west or town side, the direction the truck was traveling. We also mentioned the speed of the train and the distance the truck was thrown. We were informed by a reputable citizen of Park avenue that when the engine dragging the two cars passed him at Park avenue they were traveling so fast that it attracted his attention and caused him to stop momentarily to watch it whizz distance when he heard the train crash into the truck and a few seconds later heard the second crash either when the truck hit after being struck or when it ran into the pole.

We placed no blame for the collision in Saturday's story; we let the reader decide that for himself, as we do now with the above article.

BUG-OLOGY

What do you call them?

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Peaky Devils," in Cincinnati and the South "Night-riders," in St. Louis and Chicago district "Crimson Ramblers," the great West "Pilgrims" The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and sucking beak to draw and rob you of your blood for their own body.

Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them or where they came from at once has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Peaky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q." A 35c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or roaches, and their eggs as well. P. D. Q will not injure bedding, and each package contains a patent spout to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at-places. Impossible for Peaky Devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

AND I asked him.
"WHERE'S THE joke, Bill?"

"WHY THE darn fools.
SPENDING THEIR money.

SO I said, "You bought 'em.
DIDN'T THEY satisfy?"

BUT HERE'S the joke.

I'D ALREADY been smoking.

WE admit it, the joke's on us. And over three million other smokers are "in on it" with Bill. But the real joke is on anybody who looks for "Satisfy" anywhere but in Chesterfields—for the Chesterfield blend can't be copied!

HARDING WILL MAKE ANOTHER SPEECH TOMORROW P. M.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

MARION, Ohio, August 3.—Senator WARREN G. Harding was working on the second speech of his front porch campaign today to be delivered tomorrow before a delegation from Wayne County, O., who will call on the Republican candidate.

Most of his visitors will be farmers. His speech tomorrow, like that of last Saturday, is expected to deal solely with domestic issues and with them only to a limited extent. Harding is holding back until Cox makes his speech of acceptance. He has banned all discussion on the League of Nations until after Cox talks.

Have Dark Hair And Look Young

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and lustrous.

Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Yeamer have returned after spending the week end in Clarion.

W. P. Norris and daughter Miss Ada, have returned from a most delightful two months visit with relatives and friends in the far west. Their trip took them to the extreme limits of the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Joseph Fine and son Marshall Allan of Philadelphia are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shapiro on Second street.

Miss Grace McClellan of Franklin, and Miss Margaret McQuillen of Pittsburgh visited at the home of Ai Cowdrick on South Second street the past week.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Virginia Farmer Gives His Experience With Scrubs.

Used to Raise Scrubs, but Made Very Little Money—Purebreds Go to Market Much Earlier While Prices Are High

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How a Virginia farmer marketed pigs heavier and more profitable than he had raised in the past is told in a circular "Better Sires for Virginia" recently issued by the extension division of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical college.

"I used to raise scrub pigs," the farmer declares. "I didn't think there was much money in the hog business because I didn't make much. Since using purebred sires I have changed my mind. As a result of using purebreds sires my pigs weighed 215 pounds

last fall when the average scrub pig would hardly weigh 150 pounds. Consequently my pigs went to market early, while prices were high, while the man with scrub pigs had to keep his longer and feed them high-priced grain while prices kept going down."

The account is accompanied by a picture of purebred boars which are described as having "a good father, a good mother and no poor relations."

IMMUTABLE BREEDING LAWS

Use of Good Sires, Care, and Management Are Essential in Building Up Herds.

There is no disputing the absolute fact that the laws of breeding are just as immutable as they have ever been. The use of good sires is necessary in breeding up good herds and this alone will not do; good care, feed and management must be given calves, heifers and cows and where these rules are followed men usually succeed and prosper with greater certainty than though they depend too largely upon the cooperation of the butcher.

PUREBRED

A purebred animal is one of pure breeding representing a definite recognized breed and both of whose parents were purebred animals of the same breed. To be considered purebred live stock must be either registered, eligible to registration or (in the absence of public registry for that class) have such lineage that its pure breeding can be definitely proved. To be of good type and quality, the animal must be healthy, vigorous and a creditable specimen of its breed.

MANURE ON CONCRETE FLOOR

That From Steer Valued at $24.85, While on Earth Floor It Is $4.51 Less

The manure produced by a 1,000-pound steer in six months on a concrete floor has a value of $24.85, while on the earth floor the manure is worth only $20.34, a difference of $4.51 in favor of concrete. In eight months time this saving is sufficient to pay the ... of the cost of a concrete floor. All further saving is clear profit which amounts to $9 a year for a 1,000-pound steer.

CONTROL OF WEEDS IN CORN

Good Harrowing at Proper Time Is Most Effective Way of Checking Growth of Plants

A good harrowing at the proper time is often the cheapest and most effectual way of controlling weeds during the first stages of growth of the corn. The harrow or the weeder also may be used to advantage in breaking up a crust caused by a heavy dashing rain.

READ THE PROGRESS

GROWING UP WITH WARREN HARDING

LOOKING LIKE REAL SUCCESS

By JACK WARWICK

Boyhood Playmate, School Chum and First Newspaper Associate of the Republican Presidential Nominee

Warren Harding is a human being! There, I have let the cat out of the bag. I couldn't hold it any longer. Half a dozen chapters back I came near blurting out that sentence—Warren Harding is a human being!

In his whole life as I know him, W. G.'s humanness was as conspicuous as a church steeple. He was human back there in the perpendicular stripes of his first long pants; he was human in the schoolroom, in the day when the town oracle put the "little devil" label on him. He played ball like a human boy, and he was human when we were members of the old Caledonia Aeolian Band. Had he not been human there we would have voted him out, as we did the bass drummer who hit the drum on the "up beat," threw the whole organization off its stride and dissipated the "Poet and Peasant" waltz.

If it is necessary to give a specific instance, one that will stand alone and answer for Warren Harding's humanness, I hereby shamelessly declare that he borrowed chewing tobacco from me.

Billy Bull's Tobacco Story

But Billy Bull has the best tobacco story to tell. Billy learned his trade with us beginning in the Fite Block office of the Star, and is with the paper today as foreman of the composing room, and is as faithful as the sunrise. His story runs something like this:

One day W. G. entered the composing room and asked:

"Any of you fellows got a chew?"

"Here you are," answered one of the printers, and he produced the small remnant of a plug.

"That all you got? It's not enough," remarked the editor, "guess I'll have to go out and get some."

He returned a few minutes later with a long plug which he nailed to the wall after cutting off a slice for his own use.

"There," he told them, "help yourselves, guess that'll hold you for a few days."

Perhaps it is my duty as a faithful chronicler to add that W. G. was not an habitual consumer of plug tobacco. Put a chew now and then, during the hurry of getting out the paper, seemed to help. Some will declare it indispensable, and I am not the one to contradict them.

W. G. always wore the human side of him out. The boys who worked near him knew it, they felt it.

By the time we were established in the new office with its added equipment the force of workers had increased considerably and we had become quite a large and happy family.

"Cutting a Swath"

I think the prodigious and rather dignified counter in the front office had an influence in bringing business though W. G. was still out after it in his indefatigable way. Somebody has said that "nothing succeeds like success." Without thought of disputing that old maxim I am inclined to believe that at times nothing succeeds like the appearance of success. In any event appearance is a great help in the matter of getting on in the world.

The Star was beginning to look like real property. We were "cutting a swath." The "we" I use so freely applies to all connected with the paper in a working capacity. All were ready at any time to fight for the Star and its proprietor. Some of the boys did fight for W. G. later, but that is another story.

Notwithstanding the editor and owner and publisher had to be out of the office much of the time he missed no opportunity to get inside. Outside he couldn't smell the ink. Asked to give the most positive thing in his ... at the time of which I ... I would answer with one word and put it in capital letters. The word would be—WORK. In all my association with him I never found him fail against a task that called for mental or physical effort.

At the end of five years with W. G. ... the Star was getting in ... the town ... breeze. It ... a necessity in the life of ... the town might have lived ... would have survived ... the Star perished but it would not have grown to the importance of ... city ... town.

Aylmer Rhoads

written but he gathered them in and left the rewriting to me. Wherever he is now, I hope he may read this that he will know the respect I have for his remarkable nose.

Some time after I was away from the Star W. G. said to me:

"Jack, if you know where Aylmer Rhoads is, send him back to me. Rhoads, send him back to me."

The time came when I also went out on the street at W. G.'s request. If I do say it myself I was not much of a reporter. As a news gatherer I was never in the Rhoad class. Perhaps I could write more, but nothing than he, but that did not make me a good reporter. W. G. did ... pay me the tribute of saying:

"When you quit writing the council proceedings, Jack, I'll quit reading them."

He may have said that because I always tried to find in the council chamber some crawling thing like a cockroach, or a little dog with an amiable tail, which I could weave into the story of the everlasting—"Resolved, That in anticipation of the December tax collection," etc., etc. That council like most councils was eternally borrowing from one fund or another, or in anticipation of a forthcoming tax collection. It was a poor example to set before a reporter who couldn't anticipate beyond the next payday.

"Here's Your Insult"

Mention of paydays recalls to mind W. G.'s love of new money or his love of paying out new, snappy bills to the boys in the office. There were no germs on the bill we got over the high counter on Saturday night.

"Here's your insult," he would say and would pass over the new stuff with a smile that made Monday morning look like a day to anticipate with pleasure.

We had other reporters on the Star in my time whom I want to mention later. It seems to me they belong in this story of Warren G. Harding. They all had a hand in making his success possible and no employer could have been more liberal than he in giving to the boys around him their meed of credit for helping to make the Star shine.

If Kidneys And Bladder Bother

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse, again there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive ... made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice ...

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary ... before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking ...

BASEBALL NOTES

The baseball game at Philipsburg tomorrow will be called at 4.15 o'clock.

It's rotten rooting when the home fan attempts to razz the home players at any stage of any game. Be a sport, if it does hurt.

Those three double plays sure did help some. They improved as they went along. No 1 Martin to Robinson to Yates was a peach. No 2 Martin to Yates was a peacherino but McDonald's pickup of Swanson's bunt with the bags loaded, by which he cut a run off at the plate, and then threw the "Rabbit" out at first was a Welsh rabbit dream.

Daugherty the new left fielder came in on the 6.45 train in time to play a couple of innings, but as he refuses to play "midnight ball" he didn't get in the lineup.

Manager Lytle has ordered a dozen miner's lamps for the next home game. The players will wear them in their cap and thus save Bob Shaw a lot of trouble. Last night several of the local players left the field in the ninth and forgot to blow out their lanterns and Bob had to get out of bed to douse them.

Old Henny Warren sure did pickle that pill yesterday. He garnered a triple, double two singles and a base on ball.

Tupton the Tyrone southpaw warmed up before the game yesterday but Manager Lytle decided not to use him in the game and will give him a chance later.

FUNERAL OF J. FRANK SHUGART

WAGON WORSTS AUTO IN COLLISION

A head-on collision between Sam Bowman's wagon and an automobile driven by a young man named McBride, of East End, at the lower end of Second street this morning resulted disastrously for the auto.

McBride turned into Second street off Bridge as Bowman pulled his team across the street to the water trough at the corner of the jail lot. As the automobile ran right up on them the horses reared back and the tongue of the wagon pierced the wind-shield and ripped the top off the car. The driver fortunately escaped injury.

Rights Of Voters Explained By State Officer

will be avoided by calling on the assessor, who will sit at the polling place between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. on the sixty-third and sixty-second days before the election, being August 31 and September 1, 1920.

Assessors may be called upon at any time before these last two days for the purpose of being assessed, and, where convenient, every prospective voter should atend to the matter before these days arrive, and make certain that their names are properly assessed and registered.

The tax books will be in the hands of the tax collectors within a few days after September 1, and all new voters should pay their taxes at the first opportunity, especially those living in cities, as they are required to produce their tax receipts before they can be personally registered, and, as there are but three days for this purpose, and the last day upon which tax can be paid is also the last registration day, it is a case of "come early and avoid the rush."

The registrars will sit at their respective polling places for the purpose of personally registering prospective voters on the following day; Thursday, September 2; Tuesday, September 14, and Saturday, October 2, 1920. In Philadelphia the registrars sit from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. on these days; in Pitsburgh and Scranton the hours are 7 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. In third-class cities the registrars sit from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Tax Receipt Must be Shown

"Remember," says Mr. Thorn in his book, "that no voter's name can be placed on the personal registration list unless the tax receipt is shown to the registrars, except in the case of persons who are over twenty-one years of age and will not have reached the age of twenty-two years until after the day of election, and they must make an affidavit to that effect."

Voters of third-class cities who were prevented from appearing before the registrars in person because of sickness may at any time present their petitions to the county commissioners, and if otherwise qualified they shall place their names upon the register. Mr. Thorn also emphasizes the fact that all previous registrations have expired.

Party Enrollment Explained

The party enrollment law is explained in detail. If a voter desires to participate in the next primary of his party he must give the name of his party. In townships and boroughs enrollment according to party affiliations or preferences may be made on registration days. In cities the registrars register the enrollment.

Information regarding the filing of independent nominations by nomination papers, what constitutes lawful expensese of candidates, how detailed campaign expense accounts must be filed and with whom, the oath of office, inspection and preservation of accounts, political contributions, anonymous contributions, the securing of blank forms for expense statements and the federal corrupt practices act is also found in the pages of the election bureau chief's booklet.

BORO COUNCIL HEARS OF MEMORIAL PLANS

Reports Made Indicate Paving Of Streets Is Progressing In Excellent Manner.

RAISING OF DAM DISCUSSED

The regular meeting of town council at the borough building last evening was attended by eight of the twelve councilmen and Burgess Chase. President Pletcher presiding.

Burgess Chase reported but one arrest during July and the collection of $5.00 in fines.

Street Commissioner Graham reported the activities of the street crews during the past two weeks and checked up on the damage done by the recent heavy storm.

Borough Engineer Hess made report of the Third street repaving and stated that the brick taken up on Third street were in excellent shape and were largely being used in the repaving.

Chief of Police Eadie made application for increase in salary of $35 per month but no action was taken by council on same.

The application of Borough Teamster McNeal for $20 per month increase was also unacted upon.

The resignation of C. E. Carlson as policeman, which occurred July 1st, was announced by Burgess Chase. Since that time Chief Eadie has been doing the police work alone and working fourteen hours at it.

Mr. McCloskey, chairman of the Sewer Committee reported progress on Fourth street relief sewer and stated that they were getting prices on material for same. Also that when the Third street sewer was completed Fourth street would be greatly relieved.

The Sewer Committee also presented a petition signed by 288 citizens asking that the dam in the river at the N. Y. C. station be rebuilt and raised two feet higher. They also stated that they had endeavored to get an estimate on the cost of such dam but had not been able thus far to get it as dam builders were dam scarce in this neck o' woods. They recommended a concrete "apron" dam.

The Sewer Committee and Street Commissioner were director to proceed at once to repair the present dam temporarily while plans for a new and proper structure might be worked out.

Chairman Rosser of the Highway Department reported that the square from Reed to Pine on Third street had been repaved and opened and that the work of improving this street was going on as rapidly as possible. He stated that the Pennsylvania Railroad company was paving between their tracks from Reed street and had their excavation completed almost to Walnut street, where the improvement ends.

Mayor Presents Plan Drawn By Capable Architects And Recommends Quick Action.

WOULD COST NEAR $100,000

Following the business meeting of council Burgess Chase took up the matter of the proposed Clearfield County Soldiers' Memorial building. The Burgess stated that Clearfield is one of the very few counties of Pennsylvania which has thus far failed to provide a suitable memorial for her soldier sons. Many movements have been started in the past to have some suitable memorial erected, but thus far it has all come to naught. The world war stirred the patriotic impulses of the people of this country to a high pitch and again almost every county but Clearfield fittingly remembered her war heroes.

Some time ago a public meeting was held and it was the sense of this meeting that a committee be appointed to work out this soldiers' memorial proposition. Thus far no committee has been named, but following that meeting Howard & Thompson, DuBois architects, were asked to design a memorial building such as Clearfield County should erect and Burgess Chase presented a handsome drawing of the proposed building at this meeting. In outlining the plan he had in mind for the memorial the Burgess thought it could be erected for about $100,000, and that this sum should be contributed as follows: Clearfield borough $25,000; Clearfield County $25,000 and the remaining $50,000 be raised by patriotic popular subscription. Under this plan, too, the memorial building would be erected in upper Witmer park; would contain county and municipal offices and an auditorium suitable for the holding of county gatherings of every public nature.

No action was taken on the subject, nor did the burgess desire action at this time. His remarks were here for the purpose of getting the project before the people of the county at this time.

The picture of the proposed memorial building will be placed in Flegal's window and every patriotic citizen who believes some monument is due our brave soldiers of all the wars should make it his business to look it over.

NEW ROUTE TO CITY OF DUBOIS URGED

Judge Singleton Bell when in DuBois the other evening stated that in the near future there would come up the question of securing a temporary road between DuBois and Clearfield to be used while the main thoroughfare was being improved. He referred to the fact that the citizens of DuBois should show a proper interest in the matter and seek to have established the best possible route. It seems that active interest [illegible] project and that a petition is being circulated asking that [illegible] road be used. The road [illegible] through Home Camp in Union township thence up Anderson creek through Huston and Pine townships taking the Penfield pike about five or six miles from Penfield traveling through Pine and Lawrence townships entering West Clearfield past the hospital. RIGHTS OF VOTERS FULLY EXPLAINED BY STATE OFFICER

Because of the prospect of equal suffrage and the general interest of women in the 1920 election George D. Thorn chief of the election bureau of the state department has included in his annual booklet on the general election of 1920 much information relative to the duties of voters. It also contains information on the duties of candidates and of political committees, personal registration, party enrollment and the corrupt practices act.

Chief Thorn has used the plainest language in his chapter dealing with voters qualifications and he points out that the constitution and the laws of Pennsylvania prescribe that the following essential requirements must be complied with by prospective voters before they become eligible to cast their ballots.

They must be twentyone years of age.

They shall have been citizens of the United States at least one month.

They shall have resided in the state one year (or having previously been qualified electors or native born citizens of the state moved therefrom and returned thereto 6 months) immediately preceding the election.

They shall have resided in the election district where they offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

If twenty two years of age and upward they shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

Personal Registration in Cities

If residents of cities they must be personally registered.

GIRL FORCES LOVER TO TAKE A RIVAL

POTTSVILLE, August 3—(United Press)—A love story—a heart interest story—involving devotion and sacrifice such as is rarely found in hu[man] triangle stories has just been brought to light here. Involved were a young man and two young women from near here. An attorney, through whom the strange story became known has promised to keep buried the identity of the parties involved.

A short while ago the attorney was appealed to by a young woman to investigate the character of a young man she was engaged to marry. She had prepared an expensive trousseau and felt that with him she would be the happiest of happy young brides—until one day, she received an anonymous letter warning her that another had a closer claim to his affection than she.

Unable to persuade the young woman to ignore the letter and interview the young man personally the attorney agreed to make the investigation. Three weeks before the date of the wedding ceremony he sent for the young woman.

The prospective bride was told that "the other woman" had been found, that she had heard of the approaching wedding and that it was she who wrote the letter. The little girl dumfounded but brave, demanded that her attorney arranged a meeting of the young woman and the young man in his office. At the appointed time all three were there.

The two women went into a private office together and when they emerged the young man was told by the girl he asked to marry that he was to wed the other. With a trembling voice the young man agreed.

A few days later the expensive trousseau found it way into the home of the bride to be, the gift of the young lady who had first planned to wear it. The wedding was held on the day appointed for the ceremony of the young man and the first bride to be.

WILD PITCHING LOSES GAME TO BROOKVILLE

Clearfield Had Game Sewed Up Until The Ninth, When Stitches Ripped Again.

TEAM DID NOBLE PLAYING

The C. C. A. A. baseball team acted as host to the Brookville team at the driving park grounds last evening, and with Chesterfieldian generosity again presented the visitors with the game in the ninth inning, the final audit showing these figures: Brookville, 8; Clearfield, 3.

Dougherty was Manager Lytle's pitching assignment and he was in possession of nothing much except an uncertain arm. He had an awful time locating the plate and walked eight men. When he did wobble one over the visitors commited hari kari on it and accordingly kept our nimble footed athletes on their toes to head them off, and at that "one, two tree time they fall down," as our 'frog' cousin would remark. Dougherty dug himself into divers and sundry holes with a reckless ness and abandon that brot chills to the heart of the rooters. By playing the nippiest kind of base ball his teammates kept a firm hold on the bacon until the ninth session arrived! That one was a slaughter. We will recite it for you.

Mulfinger first man up, was out short to first. Mahney singled and Warren did likewise for his fourth hit of the game. Holben fanned. Wilson was given a walk. Smith hit safely and Snively muffed Clark's fly which should have been the third out and Wilson and Smith counted. Eagley singled scoring Clark and ho hit [illegible] tipped long enough to substitute Alexander for Dougherty [illegible] and Mulfinger ended the inning by going out [illegible] There [illegible] but we [illegible] enough.

FRESHMAN CLASS AT STATE FILLED

STATE COLLEGE Pa Aug 3—The freshman class at the Pennsylvania State College is now filled. Seven hundred and fifty applicants have been admitted and it is not yet known how many will have to be turned away by lack of necessary teaching and classroom facilities. The task of admitting the number was of such proportions as to overshadow the records of all previous years. It is estimated that applications were received from nearly 200 high and preparatory school graduates resulting in the burning of much midnight oil on the part of college official to properly and in a fairness take up the personnel of the incoming class.

LET RAILROADS GIVE SERVICE NOW

As the matter of most concern to the public in the railroad wage dispute was the obtaining of more efficient service, the country will look expectantly to the roads to "make good", now that wages have been adjusted and rates have been increased to take care of the railroads' increased expenses. If the right disposition is shown toward meeting this demand, there need be no fear of the public attitude toward the higher rates. The public was prepared for the advances allowed the carriers by the interstate commerce commission, understanding, naturally, that the increase in wages granted railroad employes would be passed on to it through increased freight and passenger rates.

The country has reached the point where, if it can get improved service, it will not hesitate to pay any rates that can be shown to be reasonable. It was painfully impressed during government operation of the roads that the latter had not been making the money the people had been led to suppose—indeed, that the carriers were in a bad way through having been restricted too closely in their charges while the cost of the service and materials they required was soaring. It is common sense, if we are to avoid a collapse of the transportation system, that the carriers cannot be kept hobbled too much in their charges while everything they have to buy is mounting in price. Of course, this does not mean that the public will submit forever to the "vicious circle" in price-making, but that, until things are stabilized, the railroads will have to be allowed whatever rates are necessary to keep the service going. It will contribute to prosperity to put the roads in a condition to buy the rolling stock of which they stand in such dire need.

The first essential of prosperity is to get the arteries of trade into smooth and vigorous working condition. Nothing would contribute more to bringing down prices of necessities than efficient transportation service.

PRAISE WHERE PRAISE IS DUE

If one had the ability to write, the material for many volumes of praise to the natural and produced good points of Clearfield and her people is here in inexhaustible quantities but the recorder would find it exceedingly difficult to properly classify and arrange the material for such a work. Reams have been written of our natural resources, our wealth, our climate and our generosity, but in our former efforts at cataloging Clearfield we naturally overlooked many of the little things that contribute so much to our convenience. We do not propose to throw bouquets indiscriminately at everything and everybody Clearfieldian but we have heard so many people express praise about two Clearfield business enterprises recently that we feel they are deserving of editorial mention.

One is the Fullington Bus Company. They serve Clearfield better than trolley could possibly do so. While not being such a large feeder to the business of the town as a trolley system would be, so far as the average citizen is concerned, they are giving better service than a traction line could give. They are maintaining their schedules better than any railroad system in the country today. They are accommodating and keeping right up to the requirements of their patrons. When weather conditions or a break down interfere with their schedules they do not hesitate to shoot another car out to pick up the lost time. A continuation of the service being given by the Fullington boys will insure their success.

The other is the chain of Jordan eating rooms. Jordan had a surpassing faith in Clearfield when in the face of high costs he plunged into the eating house business on such a pretentious scale. And just at a time when so many of the old style eating houses were arguing that "accommodations" could not be furnished without the license privilege. Jordan gets the price but he gives us comfort. You can travel to any town under twenty-five thousand population in the state and you will not find anything to surpass the Jordan establishment. Here one can buy a dinner at any price from fifty cents to the limit of the appetite. You can get it at the lunch counter quickly or with your lady in the dining room to the accompaniment of the jazziest music.

The heads of both these enterprises had nothing to urge them on but "faith in Clearfield."

And "faith in Clearfield" has been vindicated time and again.

THE PLODDER

In those bright young days when, speaking collectively, we knew all there was worth knowing, many of us entertained the ambition to conquer the world in a brilliant manner and set the universe afire with our success. But how many of us attained that ambition?

It is the boy who was the plodder in the school room who is holding an executive position and now bosses some of the rest of us. He is the fellow who kept continually hammering at his lessons. He made haste slowly and remembered what he learned. It was not by a single strike that he expected success to reward his efforts. It was inch by inch, step by step, round by round, that he expected to scale the ladder of attainment, and he has not been disappointed.

It is the plodder who is dong the big things in the world today. Let us learn from his example.

JAPAN EXPECTED TO STAY IN SIBERIA

LONDON, (By Mail)—Foreign office official's and diplomatic officials here are filled with curiosity over Japan's next declaration of policy regarding Siberia, which is due shortly after the last Szecho-Slovak contingent sails from Vladivostok.

That Japan will fulfill her former pledges to evacuate Siberia upon the departure of the Czechs, Poles, Roumanians and other war prisoners, is regarded as highly improbable. In fact, foreign officials do not consider such an action debatable.

What interests them more is the substance of Japan's new alibi by which she will seek to justify the continuation of her occupation of Russian territory.

Earlier official statements emanating from the foreign office at Tokyo indicated positively that Japan's only purpose of maintaining forces in Siberia was to "protect" the Czechs. Later declarations referred to the necessity of protecting Japanese subjects and covering the Korean frontier against the intrigues of the Koreans domiciled in adjacent Russian territory. The latest declaration promises evacuation when a stable government has been established.

Recently according to foreign office reports, Japan sent 10,000 additional forces into Russia presumably as relief forces for the soldiers there whose enlistments had expired. However, none of the time-expired men have been withdrawn, which makes the status of the newly arrived contingents more of the nature of reinforcements.

The general opinion in official quarters here is that Japan has made herself the dominant factor in the Far East and expects to retain her hold and position in Siberia until action by the Russian government renders such position untenable.

Unless combined European and American pressure frees Japano to loosen her hold upon Russia's eastern territories, or the policy of the Japanese government change radically there is nothing to prevent her "peaceful occupation" from becoming permanent. The present Russian government will require years to become strong enough to wage successful war against so powerful an enemy.

Japanese diplomacy, however, has already got itself into an incomfortable position by admitting that the present Siberian government was entitled to recognition.

Ostensibly the Verkhne Udinsk government was purposely set up to comply with Japan's demand for a stable government. The Japanese, realizing the power of the new coalition, negotiated with them regarding an armistice, thereby tacitly admitting their right to recognition.

Japan however, is expected to charge that the Verkhne Udinsk regime is a tool of Moscow, unless favorable concessions if proves its friendliness to Japan and its utility to the Bolsheviks.

NOBODY PLACED THE BLAME FOR SPRUCE STREET ACCIDENT

to the recent accident at Spruce street last Thursday in which the track of the Clearfield Storage Co., driven by Mr. Boyd Miller, with Mr. Edmund Kerr with him on the seat, was wrecked we will prove our assertion.

Had these two boys looked a little where they were going and paid attention to the warning given them there would have been no accident at all, as there was a man on the front end who gave them warning to stop. The fireman was ringing the bell and could not get their attention at all. As for knocking the truck on hundred and fifty feet, that is all a mistake, and we only want what is coming to us and no more. The truck was knocked thirty feet and ran sixty feet and then piled into a telephone pole and smashed the front end in, doing more damage to itself than the engine did. The last sixty feet it ran on its own power till it hit the pole.

Now don't blame it all on us as we are willing to go fifty-fifty but no more. Hereafter don't blame it all on the railroad man until you are sure what you are doing.

Signed: A Railroad Man.

Replying to the above letter from one of the brakemen on the train which hit the Clearfield Storage Co. truck at the Spruce street crossing last Thursday, we must say that it sounds very much like the guilty fleeing when no man was pursuing.

In our story of this accident we made no effort to fix the responsibility for same, aside from the fact that we mentioned that the engine was traveling backward which would make it impossible for the engineer to see any vehicle approaching the track from the west or town side, the direction the truck was traveling. We also mentioned the speed of the train and the distance the truck was thrown. We were informed by a reputable citizen of Park avenue that when the engine dragging the two cars passed him at Park avenue they were traveling so fast that it attracted his attention and caused him to stop momentarily to watch it whizz distance when he heard the train crash into the truck and a few seconds later heard the second crash either when the truck hit after being struck or when it ran into the pole.

We placed no blame for the collision in Saturday's story; we let the reader decide that for himself, as we do now with the above article.

BUG-OLOGY

What do you call them?

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Peaky Devils," in Cincinnati and the South "Night-riders," in St. Louis and Chicago district "Crimson Ramblers," the great West "Pilgrims" The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and sucking beak to draw and rob you of your blood for their own body.

Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them or where they came from at once has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Peaky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q." A 35c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or moths, and their eggs as well. P. D. Q will not injure bedding, and each package contains a patent spout to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at-places. Impossible for Peaky Devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

HARDING WILL MAKE ANOTHER SPEECH TOMORROW P. M.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

MARION, Ohio, August 3.—Senator WARREN G. Harding was working on the second speech of his front porch campaign today to be delivered tomorrow before a delegation from Wayne County, O., who will call on the Republican candidate.

Most of his visitors will be farmers. His speech tomorrow, like that of last Saturday, is expected to deal solely with domestic issues and with them only to a limited extent. Harding is holding back until Cox makes his speech of acceptance. He has banned all discussion on the League of Nations until after Cox talks.

Have Dark Hair And Look Young

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and lustrous.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Virginia Farmer Gives His Experience With Scrubs.

Used to Raise Scrubs, but Made Very Little Money—Purebreds Go to Market Much Earlier While Prices Are High

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How a Virginia farmer marketed pigs heavier and more profitable than he had raised in the past is told in a circular "Better Sires for Virginia" recently issued by the extension division of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical college.

"I used to raise scrub pigs" the farmer declares. "I didn't think there was much money in the hog business because I didn't make much. Since using purebred sires I have changed my mind. As a result of using purebreds sires my pigs weighed 215 pounds

Purebred Poland Chinas.

last fall when the average scrub pig would hardly weigh 150 pounds. Consequently my pigs went to market early, while prices were high, while the man with scrub pigs had to keep his longer and feed them high-priced grain while prices kept going down."

The account is accompanied by a picture of purebred boars which are described as having "a good father, a good mother and no poor relations."

IMMUTABLE BREEDING LAWS

Use of Good Sires, Care, and Management Are Essential in Building Up Herds.

There is no disputing the absolute fact that the laws of breeding are just as immutable as they have ever been. The use of good sires is necessary in breeding up good herds and this alone will not do; good care, feed and management must be given calves, heifers and cows and where these rules are followed men usually succeed and prosper with greater certainty than though they depend too largely upon the cooperation of the butcher.

PUREBRED

A purebred animal is one of pure breeding representing a definite recognized breed and both of whose parents were purebred animals of the same breed. To be considered purebred live stock must be either registered, eligible to registration or (in the absence of public registry for that class) have such lineage that its pure breeding can be definitely proved. To be of good type and quality, the animal must be healthy, vigorous and a creditable specimen of its breed.

MANURE ON CONCRETE FLOOR

That From Steer Valued at $24.85, While on Earth Floor It Is $4.51 Less

The manure produced by a 1,000 pound steer in six months on a concrete floor has a value of $24.85, while on the earth floor the manure is worth only $20.34, a difference of $4.51 in favor of concrete. In eight months time the saving is sufficient to pay the ... of the cost of a concrete floor. All further saving is clear profit, which amounts to $9 a year for a 1,000 pound steer.

Good Harrowing at Proper Time Is Most Effective Way of Checking Growth of Plants

READ THE PROGRESS

GROWING UP WITH WARREN HARDING

LOOKING LIKE REAL SUCCESS

By JACK WARWICK

Boyhood Playmate, School Chum and First Newspaper Associate of the Republican Presidential Nominee

Warren Harding is a human being! There! I have let the cat out of the bag. I couldn't hold it any longer. Half a dozen chapters back I came near blurting out that sentence—Warren Harding is a human being!

In his whole life as I knew him, W. G.'s humanness was as conspicuous as a church steeple. He was human back there in the perpendicular stripes of his first long pants; he was human in the schoolroom, on the day when the town oracle put the "little devil" libel on him. He played ball like a human boy, and he was human when we were members of the old Caledonia Aeolian Band. Had he not been human there we would have voted him out, as we did the bass drummer who hit the drum on the "up beat" threw the whole organization off its stride and dissipated the "Poet and Peasant" waltz.

If it is necessary to give a specific instance, one that will stand alone and answer for Warren Harding's humanness, I hereby shamelessly declare that he borrowed chewing tobacco from me.

Billy Bull's Tobacco Story

But Billy Bull has the best tobacco story to tell. Billy learned his trade with us beginning in the Fite Block office of the Star, and is with the paper today as foreman of the composing room, and is as faithful as the sunrise. His story runs something like this:

One day W. G. entered the composing room and asked:

"Any of you fellows got a chew?"

"Here you are," answered one of the printers, and he produced the small remnant of a plug.

"That all you got?" It's not enough," remarked the editor, "guess I'll have to go out and get some."

He returned a few minutes later with a long plug which he nailed to the wall after cutting off a slice for his own use.

"There," he told them, "help yourselves, guess that'll hold you for a few days."

Perhaps it is my duty as a faithful chronicler to add that W. G. was not an habitual consumer of plug tobacco. Put a chew now and then, during the hurry of getting out the paper, seemed to help. Some will declare it indispensable, and I am not the one to contradict them.

W. G. always wore the human side of him out. The boys who worked near him knew it, they felt it.

By the time we were established in the new office with its added equipment the force of workers had increased considerably and we had become quite a large and happy family.

"Cutting a Swath"

I think the prodigious and rather dignified counter in the front office had an influence in bringing business though W. G. was still out after it in his indefatigable way. Somebody has said that "nothing succeeds like success." Without thought of disputing that old maxim I am inclined to believe that at times nothing succeeds like the appearance of success. In any event appearance is a great help in the matter of getting on in the world.

The Star was beginning to look like real property. We were "cutting a swath." The "we" I use so freely applies to all connected with the paper in a working capacity. All were ready at any time to fight for the Star and its proprietor. Some of the boys did fight for W. G. later but that is another story.

Notwithstanding the editor and owner and publisher had to be out of the office much of the time he missed no opportunity to get inside. Outside he couldn't smell the ink. Asked to give the most positive thing in his relations at the time of which I am writing I would answer with one word and put it in capital letters. The word would be—WORK. In all my association with him I never found him ... against a task that called for mental or physical effort.

At the end of five years with W. G. ... the Star was getting in ... a ... breeze. It ... a necessity in the life of ... the town might have lived ... have survived ... the Star perished but it would not have grown to the importance of ... city ... town.

Aylmer Rhoads

... competitors ... W. G. had a way ... getting ... ...

written but he gathered them in and left the rewriting to me. Wherever he is now, I hope he may read this that he will know the respect I have for his remarkable nose.

Some time after I was away from the Star W. G. said to me:

"Jack, if you know where Aylmer Rhoads is, send him back to me. Rhoads, send him back to me."

The time came when I also went out on the street at W. G.'s request. If I do say it myself I was not much of a reporter. As a news gatherer I was never in the Rhoads class. Perhaps I could write more about nothing than he, but that did not make me a good reporter. W. G. did ... pay a ... tribute of saying:

"When you quit writing the council proceedings, Jack, I'll quit reading them."

He may have said that because I always tried to find in the council chamber some crawling thing like a cockroach, or a little dog with an amiable tail, which I could weave into the story of the everlasting—"Resolved, That in anticipation of the December tax collection," etc., etc. That council like most councils was eternally borrowing from one fund or another, or in anticipation of a forthcoming tax collection. It was a poor example to set before a reporter who couldn't anticipate beyond the next payday.

"Here's Your Insult"

Mention of payday recalls to mind W. G.'s love of new money or his love of paying out new, snappy bills to the boys in the office. There were no germs on the bill we got over the high counter on Saturday night.

"Here's your insult," he would say and would pass over the new stuff with a smile that made Monday morning look like a day to anticipate with pleasure.

We had other reporters on the Star in my time whom I want to mention later. It seems to me they belong in this story of Warren G. Harding. They all had a hand in making his success possible and no employer could have been more liberal than he in giving to the boys around him their meed of credit for helping to make the Star shine.

If Kidneys And Bladder Bother

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread ... the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acid in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive ... made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice ... ...

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking ... ...

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little ... ... Women ... beauty ... try this ...

BASEBALL NOTES

The baseball game at Philipsburg tomorrow will be called at 4:15 o'clock.

It's "rotten rooting" when the home fan attempts to razz the home players at any stage of any game. Be a sport, if it does hurt.

Those three double plays sure did help some. They improved as they went along. No. 1 Martin to Robinson to Yates was a "peach." No. 2 Martin to Yates was a peacherino but McDonald's pickup of Swanson's bunt with the bags loaded, by which he cut a run off at the plate, and then threw the "Rabbit" out at first was a Welsh rabbit dream.

Daugherty, the new left fielder, came in on the 6:45 train in time to play a couple of innings, but as he refuses to play "midnight ball" he didn't get in the lineup.

Manager Lytle has ordered a dozen miners lamps for the next home game. The players will wear them in their caps and thus save Bob Shaw a lot of trouble. Last night several of the local players left the field in the ninth and forced to blow out their lanterns and Bob had to get out of bed to douse them.

Old Henny Warren sure did pickle that pill yesterday. He garnered a triple, double, two singles and a base on ball.

Tupton, the Tyrone southpaw, warmed up before the game yesterday but Manager Lytle decided not to use him in the game and will give him a chance later.

FUNERAL OF FRANK SHUGART

Funeral services for the late J. Frank Shugart will be held at the Shugart home on Walnut street tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. W. Hartman of Trinity Church will officiate. The pall bearers will be members of the Maccabee lodge with which deceased was affiliated. Interment will be made in Hillcrest cemetery. Please omit flowers.

WAGON WORSTS AUTO IN COLLISION

A head-on collision between Sam Bowman's wagon and an automobile driven by a young man named McBride, of East End, at the lower end of Second street this morning resulted disastrously for the auto.

McBride turned into Second street off Bridge as Bowman pulled his team across the street to the water trough at the corner of the jail lot. As the automobile ran right up on them the horses reared back and the tongue of the wagon pierced the wind-shield and ripped the top off the car. The driver fortunately escaped injury.

Rights Of Voters Explained By State Officer

will be avoided by calling on the assessor, who will sit at the polling place between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. on the sixty-third and sixty-second days before the election, being August 31 and September 1, 1920.

Assessors may be called upon at any time before these last two days for the purpose of being assessed, and, where convenient, every prospective voter should atend to the matter before these days arrive, and make certain that their names are properly assessed and registered.

The tax books will be in the hands of the tax collectors within a few days after September 1, and all new voters should pay their taxes at the first opportunity, especially those living in cities, as they are required to produce their tax receipts before they can be personally registered, and, as there are but three days for this purpose, and the last day upon which tax can be paid is also the last registration day, it is a case of "come early and avoid the rush."

The registrars will sit at their respective polling places for the purpose of personally registering prospective voters on the following day: Thursday, September 2; Tuesday, September 14, and Saturday, October 2, 1920. In Philadelphia the registrars sit from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. on these days; in Pitsburgh and Scranton the hours are 7 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. In third-class cities the registrars sit from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Tax Receipt Must be Shown

"Remember," says Mr. Thorn in his book, "that no voter's name can be placed on the personal registration list unless the tax receipt is shown to the registrars, except in the case of persons who are over twenty-one years of age and will not have reached the age of twenty-two years until after the day of election, and they must make an affidavit to that effect."

Voters of third-class cities who were prevented from appearing before the registrars in person because of sickness may at any time present their petitions to the county commissioners, and if otherwise qualified they shall place their names upon the register. Mr. Thorn also emphasizes the fact that all previous registrations have expired.

Party Enrollment Explained

The party enrollment law is explained in detail. If a voter desires to participate in the next primary of his party he must give the name of his party. In townships and boroughs enrollment according to party affiliations or preferences may be made on registration days. In cities the registrars register the enrollment.

Information regarding the filing of independent nominations by nomination papers, what constitutes lawful expenses of candidates, how detailed campaign expense accounts must be filed and with whom, the oath of office, inspection and preservation of accounts, political contributions, anonymous contributions, the securing of blank forms for expense statements and the federal corrupt practices act is also found in the pages of the election bureau chief's booklet.

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Make Women Normal.

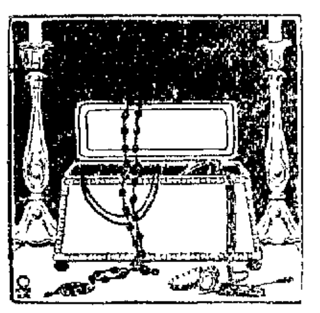

Washington, Ind.—"I was in such a condition that I never expected to have children and my aunt advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It improved my health and restored a normal condition of my system so that I now have a fine baby. Until she was about a year old I was very nervous, and all the time thinking something terrible was going to happen. If I heard anyone coming my heart would beat fast and I wanted to run.
